“Traditional marketing and advertising strategies are losing their influence, especially with informed, critical student-doctors.”

The Medical Mastermind Community engages the consumer by drawing them into the conversation. We use actual product samples and provide you with formal reviews. Here is a sample of one such review:

So, if you're not afraid of a formal product review by our Community of over 1,900 students, you just might get the Community vote on which products and services they want included in our $750,000 Omnibus grant project from the National Institutes of Health.
